When should the accessor be used?

When the accessor return an object in terms of an interface

Can be used in OO system that having a procedural boundary layer